The Grayling High Vikings face their final foes this week of the 1952-53 basketball season as they meet the Gaylord Blue Devils at Gaylord Tuesday night and entertain the 240 Thunderbolts here Friday night in the final game of the regular season.

On Wednesday afternoon, the drawings will be held at Gaylord for the District Tournament which is slated in Gaylord next week. Four Class C teams are entered in the Gaylord tournament including besides the host team, Grayling, Kalkaska and Mancelona. The four teams will meet Thursday night with the winners of the two contests meeting Saturday night to determine the tournament champion. All four teams are figured as almost equal in power and the Gaylord District tournament should be one of the best for the spectators—and undoubtedly will produce three fine games.

Last week, the Vikings won two games, both non-conference frays. On Tuesday night here, the Grayling team took the measure of the Mancelona Ironmen by the close score of 56 to 52. The first period ended in a 14 all tie but by half-time Grayling worked to a 29 to 10 edge. The third quarter was about even with Grayling maintaining its lead when the score was 42 to 37.

Jim Burck led the Vikings with 30 points. Marvin Bielski and Allan Luckstead added 8 points each. Bob Barnett 7, and Red Hamilton and Dale Pettengill 5 each. Dick Derr with 14 was high for the Ironmen.

On Friday night, the Vikings traveled to Traverse City to meet the St. Francis five whom they had easily defeated here early in the year. The Vikings were pushed hard to come home with a 57 to 55 win.

Grayling took a 20 to 12 first quarter edge and held in the second quarter for a 30 to 23 halftime score. St. Francis tallied a few more than Grayling in the third and fourth quarters, but the Vikings still held a 45 to 38 advantage going into the final period of play.

Burck again led the Vikings, scoring with 21 points with Bielski and Luckstead adding 11 each. Hamilton added 4 as did Ronnie Larson who Coach Bruce Smith started for the first time this year. Heelsky led the St. Francis five with 16 points.

The Grayling reserves were also victorious in both games this past week as they defeated the Ironmen second team a 38 to 28 defeat with Lloyd Failing leading the little Vikings with 15 points. Grayling defeated the St. Francis second team Friday night by a 32 to 26 score with Jerry Korhonen leading the way with 20 points.

Red Cross Drive March 1-31; Goal Is Set At $93 Million

To finance expanded service programs, including the collection and processing of thousands of additional pints of blood for conversion into gamma globulin—a new weapon against polio—the American Red Cross will launch its annual $1,500,000 campaign March 1 for $93,000,000, largest goal since war years.

"This is an increase of $8,000,000 over last year," Mrs. C. G. Clippert, County Red Cross chairman said, "largely to expand the Red Cross defense blood collections for the production of gamma globulin which prevents paralysis from poliomyelitis. Funds also were added to provide a Red Cross recreation program for able bodied servicemen abroad."

Crawford County's quota this year is set at $1,945 with the hope that $1,500 may be raised because of the added service program and added expenditures anticipated by the Home Service Bureau in Crawford County. Of the quota raised, 40.8% is retained in the county and 59.2% sent to the area office. Of the money raised above the quota 50% is retained in the county and 50% remitted to National Headquarters.

Mrs. George Quinn of the American Legion Auxiliary, drive chairman, asks that all workers attend a "kickoff" meeting in the Legion Hall basement at 8:00 P. M. Thursday evening, February 26th at 8:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Mae Jordan of Red Cross National Headquarters of St. Louis, Mo., district representative, will be present at this meeting. Since the list of workers was announced last week three more helpers have been added, Mrs. Kenneth Allen, Mrs. Elroy Barber and Mrs. Cleo Hinkle all of Frederic.

The Red Cross drive will begin in Crawford County next Monday. Some one will call on you. When they do won't you "Answer the Call?"

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bednarczyk and family, Jim Macaulay and friend of Bay City visited the A. Macaulays over the week end.

There was a good bit of excitement at the Kappa Delta Sorority house in East Lansing Saturday evening when it was discovered that the third floor of the structure was on fire. Making the fire of interest here is the fact that both Sue Gleigling and Christine Sales are members of the sorority and live at the house. Considerable damage was done to some of the rooms on the third floor but no one was hurt. It was fortunate that the blaze was discovered soon after it started, keeping the loss at a minimum.

Miss Shirley Hoel is a patient at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor. Her mother, Mrs. Harry Hoel accompanied by Mrs. Malt Bldvia drove her down on Tuesday and returned Wednesday.

Mrs. Bldvia also had medical attention at the hospital while in Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Marion Burck and son, Jim, were hosts at a dinner party "down river" Saturday evening to members of the first string basketball team at Grayling High School. Also present were Coach and Mrs. Bruce Smith and son, Terry, and Coach and Mrs. Arthur Allen and son, Terry.

Plan New Building With Six Alleys, Room For Two More

The Grayling American Legion Post 106 is sponsoring a drive to raise $50,000 to build a new cinder block building and to install six new bowling alleys in it, with room remaining for two more if business were to warrant their addition. Plans now call for the building and alleys to be ready for use on October 1, 1953.

A Legion committee has been working for the past several months investigating the financial possibilities of such alleys paying their way in Grayling. The committee composed of Post Commander Lyle Bilsby, Dr. J. F. Cook, Lewis Stillwagon, Frank Smiggins, James Post and Robert Neafie reported to the Legion membership

Three Injured In Collision

Three men were injured when a car crashed into the rear of a auto haulway truck north of Grayling on US-27 early last Sunday morning. The collision occurred in front of the Conservation Equipment shed about one-half mile north of the Grayling City limits at about 2:50 Sunday morning, according to Sheriff John A. Papendick who investigated.

Events leading up to the accident started when a car driven by P. J. Healey, 34, of Detroit headed south skidded on a patch of ice, left the highway and plowed into the snowbank and a sign on the east side of the highway. Healey's car sustained about $200 in damage, Sheriff Papendick said.

An automobile haulway truck from Michigan, Saskatchewan, Canada, headed north and driven by Howard J. Thompson, 29, of that city stopped and pulled off from the highway to aid Healey. Sheriff Papendick said that about one foot of the rear of the truck extended into the highway proper when Thompson stopped. Thompson went back down the highway to light a signal flare. The flare would not light. The truck driver then returned to his cab for another, when a car driven north by Melvin A. Koenders, 31, of Midland crashed into the rear of the truck.

The Koenders vehicle was a total loss, Sheriff Papendick said. The Midland man was accompanied by Jerry G. Hayes, 16, of Freeland and Leon Bushy, 18, of Midland. All three were taken to Grayling Mercy Hospital. Koenders is suffering from chest injuries including a fractured sternum. Hayes received a fracture over the left eye and cuts and bruises about the head. Bushy is suffering lacerations of the face and a possible skull fracture.

Both Healey and Koenders were ticketed by Sheriff Papendick on reckless driving charges.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Macaulay announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly Ann to Donald Fifth of Grand Rapids.

at a meeting on February 9, that the plan was feasible and moved that the Legion Post launch a drive to raise the necessary finances.

The committee figuring on maximum expense and minimum income said that in the first five years with but six alleys operating that planning on paying 40 percent down on the alleys, the remainder could be paid off with interest of $500 paid and $5,000 placed in a sinking fund. The second five years would pay off all notes signed with individuals to erect the building, leaving the building and alleys free and clear.

The Legion stressed the fact that it does not want to go into the bowling alley business but as no individual came forward to under take such a project and as the Grayling Post feels that for the best interest of the health, welfare and recreational activities of the residents of Grayling and Crawford County such alleys are necessary, decided to go ahead with the plan.

Forty-four members of the Post voted to name a finance committee and to move ahead on the project with all Legion members and veterans to be contacted in Grayling and Crawford County first and then go to the general public next to raise a minimum of $35,000. If the money is not subscribed, all pledges will be returned to those who have signed them, and the project will be dropped. The drive must be completed by May 1st, in order to start construction so that the alleys will be ready on October 1st.

The location of the alleys has not as yet been definitely decided upon it was said. A large amount of the labor and some material towards the building will be donated as will most of the ground work around the building. The finance committee will accept pledges of material or labor as well as money which will be repaid with interest of two percent a year.

Where Silence Is Eloquent!

Have you ever heard a 1953 Cadillac?

The odds are that you haven't—unless you've listened quite carefully.

For it is a literal fact that you must concentrate to detect the sound of a Cadillac car in motion . . . save, of course, for the soft song of the passing wind and the quiet hum of the tires on the pavement.

Even that great, powerful engine never raises its voice above a whisper!

But, oh, the wonderful, wonderful story this marvelous quiet tells.

It tells, for instance, of Cadillac's rigid adherence to the highest ideals of automotive construction . . .

. . . of the great engineering that enables every part of the car to perform in perfect harmony

. . . of the magnificent styling and design that give the car its smooth, easy, steady, floating ride

. . . and of the flawless craftsmanship that keeps the car so unbelievably free from vibration through the miles and the years.

And, of course, it speaks with equal clarity of the many things a Cadillac provides its owner.

It promises rest and relaxation . . . and a freedom from distraction that adds safety to every journey.

It foretells mile after mile of extraordinary dependability and a minimum of upkeep expense.

And, of course, it prophesies longevity . . . and, hence, bespeaks the wisdom and soundness of its owner's investment.

Yes, the quiet of the Cadillac car tells a wonderful story all of its own. And it's one that we think you should "hear" for yourself.

Why not come in soon—and spend an hour with a 1953 Cadillac?

We think you'll agree that silence has never been more eloquent.

A Record Of Opportunity

Numerous novels have been written about the migration of people to America from many lands. None describes the reason for such migrations better than Vilhelm Moberg in his book "The Emigrants." In it he presents the dilemma of a Swedish couple one hundred years ago as they argue for and against coming to this country, in the following fictional scene: "They are both of them strong and healthy and accustomed to hard work, and that was all that they need bring along: Their ability to work; it was all America asked of them. Perhaps they must face as much drudgery as here, but they would do it in another spirit, with another hope, another joy. Because the great difference between the two countries was this: In America they could improve their lot through their own work."

Moberg's scene must actually have occurred in thousands of peasant cottages in many countries where political oppression and the rule of tyrants drove people by the millions to the freedom of America.

Now all around us we see the miracles wrought by people seeking to "improve their lot." Nowhere is the evidence of these miracles more striking than in agriculture. In America for the first time in thousands of years new methods and new machines were developed for working the soil. The Country Gentleman for January features an article entitled "New Machines for 1953." In picture and in word the article describes the modern farm equipment that has made this nation the most productive on earth.

A field harvester is shown that can handle up to 25 tons of corn or hay silage per hour. Mechanized cotton-pickers are illustrated along with a sagebrush shredder, various types of balers, harrows, manure spreaders, side-delivery rakes, picker-shellers, etc. These and countless other labor saving farm machines would cause the early immigrant to gaze in awe struck wonder and yet they are the direct result of the compelling force that drove him to America, the urge to better his lot. And they have done just that. They have cut down drudgery, increased production and lowered costs.

Wrong "Train" of Thought

Most of us knew the streamliner stopped about four miles from town last Thursday - but we didn't know why...

Seems the train was hurrying along, then came the screeching of brakes - some fellow had pulled the Emergency Stop cord.

When the conductor asked him why he did it, he said, "The train was just going too fast—I wanted to get you to slow down."

From where I sit, that streamliner has been going at that speed for the past seven years with a perfect safety record and the passengers have always been pleased. Now—some comes a fellow who wants the train to go at his speed. Some people are like that. Some still would begrudge another person's right to a temperate glass of beer even though that person wouldn't dream of flashing a "Stop" sign on their preference for, say, milk, coffee or tea. Respecting the rights of others is the only way we can keep "on the right track."

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

LURE OF THE BOBCAT

While the duck hunter may easily take top honors in the fall as the most rugged of Michigan sportsmen, surely there's no argument for such laurels during the winter season. They go by unanimous vote to the bobcat hunters in both the upper and lower peninsulas!

Once a bounded animal in the state, the bobcat is now considered one of the most elusive of our game animals, pursued by a small and quite select group of hardy souls thru the heavy snows of Michigan's north country.

Successor To The Lynx
Once upon a time the Canada Lynx and the bobcat both frequented Michigan forests. Today only the bobcat survives - and actually thrives. A predator in many ways, the big cats eat rabbits, birds and have been known to attack and kill a deer. A bit shy by nature the bobcat avoids close contact with humans, staying deep in swamps during the daylight hours, traveling mile after mile cross-country at night in search of food.

Cat Hounds Well Trained
For the hunter who elects to try his hand at bobcats, good hounds are essential - and scarce! They must be true to the trail, never diverted by any other track when on a cat, and long-winded. Many a hunt will begin just at sunrise with the discovery of fresh track at the edge of a swamp, and will end at dark with the cat hounds and hunters in that order, still weaving their way thru cover so thick that it almost excludes daylight.

Course Is Unpredictable
A bobcat may tree in thirty minutes or less. Or he may end the chase hiding under a thick brush heap. Some will choose to challenge the dogs, backing up to a big stump and swinging a lethal, claw-packed punch at any bound foolish enough to step into range. Others will cross one swamp a mile or two wide in a bee line, cross a high popple ridge to another larger swamp maybe five miles square, and run chattering circles all day long until dogs and hunters are totally bewildered, and more often than not, so far from the nearest road that it's long after dark before the vanquished stumble back to habitation, footsore and weary, outwitted by a Michigan bobcat! A day's rest for the hounds (and hunters), and they're back in the same big swamp hunting the same big cat with a tenacity to match that of the earliest, hardest pioneers in Michigan Outdoors!

Expect Deer Herd Decrease

Michigan's deer herd - along with that of a lot of other states - is going to grow smaller in years to come, whether hunters, the general public and conservation department game men like it or not.

Conservationists throughout the North American white-tail range point out that we haven't much choice but to accept smaller herds because food supplies are being permanently reduced. They are asking effective herd management now to help the deer get through these downward "growing pains" in the best possible manner.

Ralph D. Bird, Manitoba white-tail authority, recently wrote of this problem: "Favorable food plants (in northern Manitoba) are quickly overbrowsed and deer are forced to eat less nutritious food. Under severe conditions the favored food plants are killed by heavy overbrowsing and whole-sale starvation of deer follows. The deer herd can never increase to its original numbers as the carrying capacity of the pasture has been permanently lowered."

The Wisconsin conservation department's Bulletin magazine for February also sounds a warning against letting that state's herd build up to the size it reached before 1949, when an active program of management was started. "Hunting," says the magazine, "will not live up to its possibilities if Wisconsin again becomes so obsessed with 'saving' deer as to let a growing herd largely starve and go to waste, as in the 1930's and 1940's. With much of the brush now pole size or larger, out of reach of deer, the state cannot afford to run its limited deer food supply a second time by permitting the herd to outgrow it again."

A recent article in Pennsylvania's Game News magazine points out that the heyday of the big kill in that state is already past. Diminishing populations in Pennsylvania, says the article, are inevitable, a matter what we do. Closing the season entirely would only hasten the process. Shunting the deer down to rock bottom would help but little because now it is too late. There would be no recovery because there is no food for recovery."

Michigan game men bolster these statements, saying diminishing food supplies mean fewer deer in the future. They say the big problems of deer herd management lie in the future. Last year's "any deer" season, they say, was only the start of a long-range program to bring herd and range food supplies into closer balance.

Weekly News-Letter

From the Desk of Representative Emil A. Pelz

Last week we discussed the state civil service set-up and I pointed out how the Legislature was helpless in effective savings in employment.

From here on let us look into some of the constitutional provisions that further shackle the Legislature and have caused the present financial situation by which we expect to be in the red in the amount of $40,000,000 by June 1st.

Due to an over-burden of property taxes twenty-two years ago the 15 mill tax limitation came into being. This is another constitutional amendment, by the people, which took effect in 1933. It is contained in Section 21 of Article 10.

Here again we wish to make it clear that we find no fault with the will of the people. Property taxes were too high. Something had to be done. The 15 mill tax limitation was the answer.

It resulted, however, in the State no longer sharing in any of the real property taxes. But since then the proceeds of the property tax has been divided by the county tax allocation board between the County, the schools, and the townships. The state was forced into another tax field. The result was that the state then immediately ran into a $30,000,000 dollar deficit. To that the 3% sales tax was the answer which became effective July 1, 1933. The proceeds of that tax soon lifted the State out of the red. All was well for everybody for a few years.

Then came inflation. Costs mounted. With property taxes frozen at 15 mills the revenue was no longer adequate for the townships, counties and schools. City taxpayers were being overburdened with property taxes and those cities which had voted to come under the 15 mill limitation found themselves in serious financial difficulty. Public debts mounted.

Meanwhile, inflation and increased retail business had greatly increased the sales tax revenue. Unlike other units of government, the State was getting along fine. As early as 1940 cities and schools were eyeing the State Treasury for more money for local use. They began putting pressure on the Legislature for a split of the sales tax. No agreement was reached and in the fall of 1946 another amendment was added to the Constitution by the people. Section 23 of Article 10, commonly known as the "sales tax diversion amendment" has, since 1947 taken away from the State 30% of its sales tax revenue. Its provisions have left the State destitute and over the five year period we have been forced to accumulate the present huge deficit.
